The fan is unplugged because the maintenance man did so and if it was plugged in it might cause a fire.

Why don't you send an inspector here in person that I can take video of?

He said three months ago I will get a new one, now you are trying to blame me?

There are rear lights and if there are one then you are NOT following the IPMC.

All entry doors must have working lights!

If those lights in the hallway work tell me why they NEVER come on?

Did anyone come in here and see that the dishwasher does not fucking work, send a real person here and you will find it does not work.

Send a person into this place and see that the counter is NOT secured.

No one lubricated the lock, and it still does not work.

Send a person here instead of lying let me video tape them showing them it does not work then sue the city for your lies.

They were no hanging wires, you are a liar.

I have pictures.

The wiring was not right and they used a person who is NOT a electrician to "fix" it.

You are such a fucking scum that you are lying to blame the tenants for things I can absolutely prove are not truth.

No hanging wires, just a recessed light bulb socket that did not work.

I have pictures, do you?

They took out a perfectly fine working light fixture and left us with a bare blub?

What the fuck would you care if that is not to the IPMC?

They were not licensed electricians as required by law, but why would you care?

Send the Mayor so she can see your lies....

NOTHING was repaired to code, nothing was done, not ONE inspector was here.
